Celebrates the Class of 2021
Dear York College Class of 2021:

Congratulations, you have completed this important milestone in your educational journey! I am truly proud of all of you for making the commitment and with the support of your families, faculty and staff at York, have achieved your goal of an undergraduate or graduate degree. This past year has been a lesson in perseverance. But as York’s Alma Mater song says in part, “When the going seemed too tough/We strove harder to be strong/And now we’ve made it here at last.” This past year has ennobled that sentiment. We can now proudly continue to proclaim, “We are York Strong.”

You are the resilient Class of 2021, proving throughout the pandemic, just how adaptable you are. I am proud of you all and thankful to our outstanding professors, who also rose to meet the moment. Many had never taught in the digital space before and had to learn the method overnight, just as adjusting to online learning. Our IT team rose to the challenge to provide the tech support and equipment needed to power the new learning model. Now we are celebrating your success.

After three or more years of on-campus learning, you have spent the past year learning and studying from home. It is my hope that all of us will have all grown from the experience and that we will use it to our benefit in some way.

Of course, we would have much preferred to be celebrating your Commencement with all the pomp and circumstance befitting a normal graduation ceremony; but as you are all aware, we are prevented from proceeding in that manner now.

To our valedictorian, Anthropology major, Katherine Roman, congratulations! And to our first Salutatorian in many years, Psychology major, Wing Man “Vivian” Ho, congratulations! You both worked hard and have earned the honor of speaking on behalf of your classmates. To faculty who kept your students focused during this time, thank you for your commitment to the dream. This is your success too.

Graduates, whether as members of Student Government, members of the many clubs on campus, student reporters or just students hanging on to the graduation goal, you have all succeeded, and now you are York alumni. Go forth and take your place in making the change you want to see in the world, keeping York always in your hearts. You now join more than 30,000 as York College alumni. Stay in touch with your alma mater and stay well. We are One York.

Berenecea Johnson Eanes, Ph.D.

Hail York College! Proudly we see York as the star of The City University
so here we stand to pledge by your name
to bring our college glory, honor, and fame.

From all corners of the world,
from our rich diversity,
in our common quest for truth
we have formed a family;
and though we may be far away,
yet our hearts are ever near
to the school we hold so dear.

Though the road was often rough
we worked hours late and long
when the going seemed too tough
we strove harder to be strong and now we’ve made it here at last we can hold our heads up high
we can spread our wings and fly.
