A NOTE ON AMERICAN ACADEMIC COSTUME

The academic costume worn at American college exercises today goes back in its essential features to the Middle Ages. The oldest universities of northern Europe, such as Paris and Oxford, grew out of church schools, and both faculty and students were regarded in the Middle Ages as part of the clergy. Hence, they wore clerical garb, largely borrowed from the monastic dress of their day, not merely on special occasions, but as their regular costumes.

The gown worn today is the medieval robe and seems to have been borrowed from the habit of the Benedictine monks. In the Middle Ages, undergraduates, bachelors, and masters could be distinguished by the simplicity or elaborateness of their gowns -- the masters' gowns were often furred -- and this survives today in the ornamentation found on doctoral gowns.

The wide velvet borders down the front of the doctoral gown, as well as the velvet bars on the sleeves, are colored according to the scholarly field of the wearer. The most usual of these are:

White • Arts and Letters	Lemon • Library Science	Blue • Philosophy	Scarlet • Theology
Brown • Fine Arts	Citron • Social Work	Sage Green • Physical Education	Drab • Business
Purple • Law	Light Blue • Education	Gold • Science

THE PRESIDENTIAL MACE

The mace is a symbol of power or authority. It dates back at least to medieval times when it was literally an instrument of power as a war club. It eventually evolved into the ceremonial scepter of monarchs. The mace is carried at the head of academic processions and on such formal and official occasions as commencements, regular and special convocations.

THE PRESIDENTIAL MEDALLION

The medallion signifies the authority of the college's chief executive. The college president will wear the medallion at commencement, convocation, and at other times when academic regalia are appropriate. The medallion is hand-tooled, cast in oxidized nickel and hand polished. It measures 3-1/2 inches in diameter and hangs on a chain of the same metal. The college's motto in Latin SAPERE AUDE: INCIPE and its modern English translation, DARE TO BE WISE: BEGIN, are inscribed in the center of the medallion, surrounded by the name of the college and the university and the date each was founded, 1966 and 1847, respectively.

BY ANDREA KAZLAS, CLASS OF 1987

Hail York College! Proudly we see York as the star of The City University
so here we stand to pledge by your name
to bring our college glory, honor, and fame.

From all corners of the world,
from our rich diversity,
in our common quest for truth
we have formed a family;
and though we may be far away,
yet our hearts are ever near
to the school we hold so dear.

Though the road was often rough
we worked hours late and long
when the going seemed too tough
we strove harder to be strong and now we've made it here at last
we can hold our heads up high
we can spread our wings and fly.
