

- I thought it was useful information that was ready for use. HR did a great job presenting and explaining the information. They needed more time. Dr. Banrey was excellent presenting all of the good works student development is doing and making us aware of the many services available in Student Development. I liked the interaction from Brunilda regarding advisement but we need that advisement 101 course and more information on the liability of advising students. Ms. Brown was excellent. More scenarios and what to do about the students with 60 credits who have not claimed a major is needed from financial aid. I thought it was great overall. Valerie
- Thanks, Donna. The workshop was helpful but a bit long for what it was. It IS important to understand these systems and how they interface but truthfully I am not sure I walked away with any more clarity than I entered with.
- What I would LOVE is a list of the point people to contact for different issues, e.g., for some issues I am told Shane, other issues Erica; same in Registrar, in IT, in Bursar, on and on. I can't keep it straight. Dana
- This was a very good meeting, already told the Provost. It was informative, maybe the part of students development presentation was too long especially that handout was provided. Lunch was also very good. Gila
- There are just so many things that are out there that I have not had to know about it is overwhelming and I am trying thanks to Emily and Rob to catch up on things. Thank goodness I am well versed in payroll and scheduling already and did the student schedule in May before the you know what hit The AEMS system is been probably the hardest to comprehend and this was a nice tutorial John
- I thought that the entire workshop was useful but the portions that really piqued my interest were the Financial Aid and Admissions presentations. George
